

HATCH ME

UK Safer
Internet
Centre

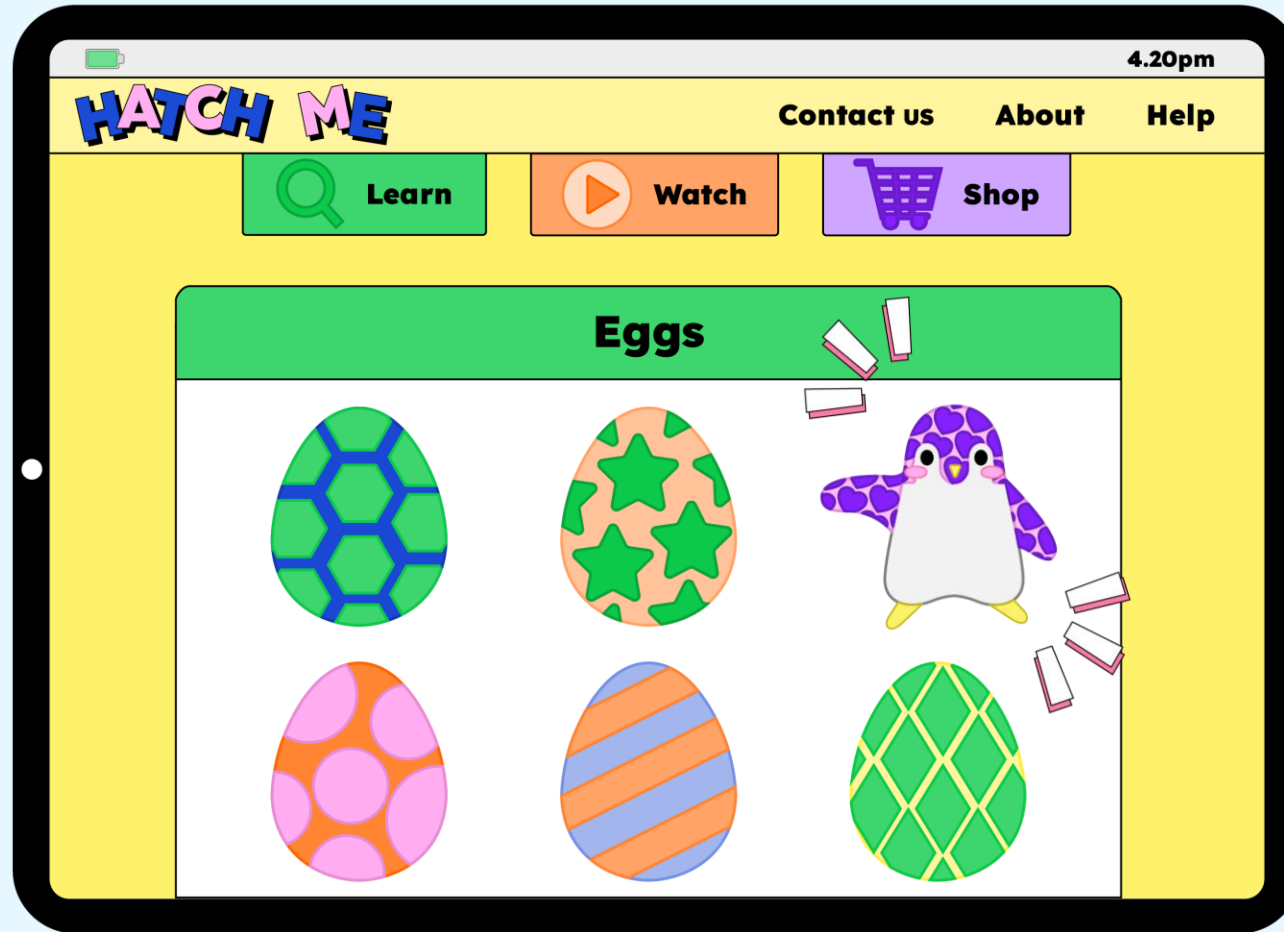

Here are Mo and Jaz. They love playing games online.

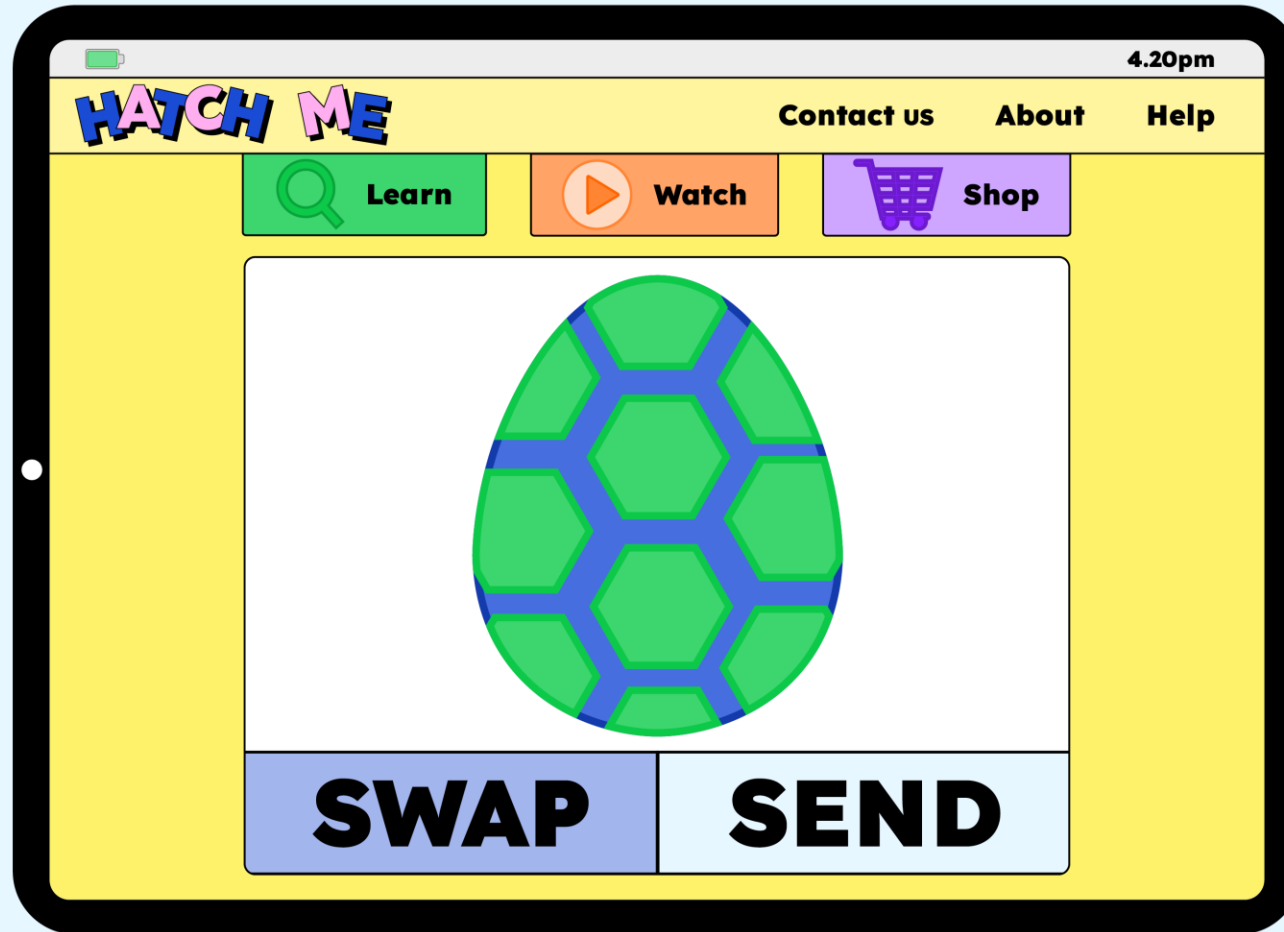

One day, Mo and Jaz start to play a new game called 'Hatch Me'.

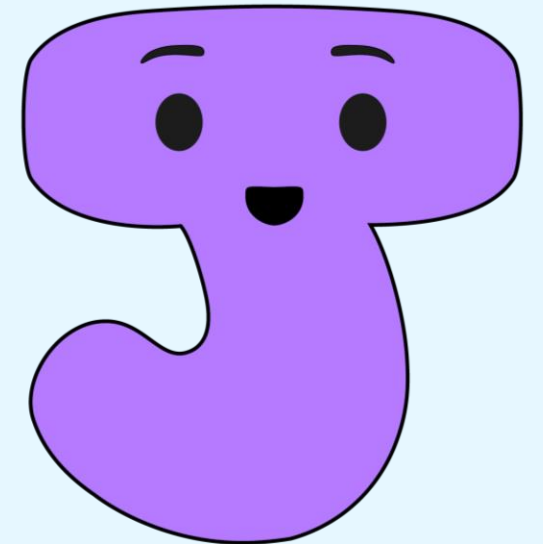

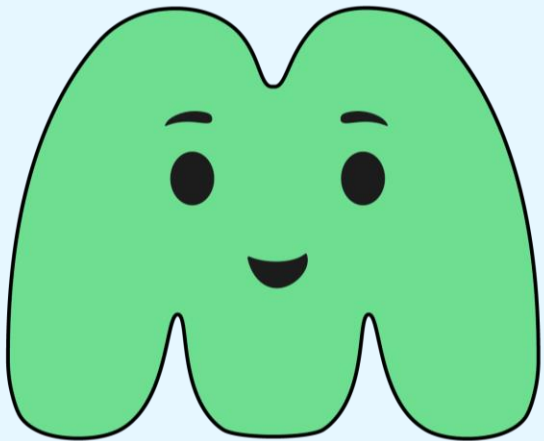

In the game, you collect eggs which hatch into different animals.

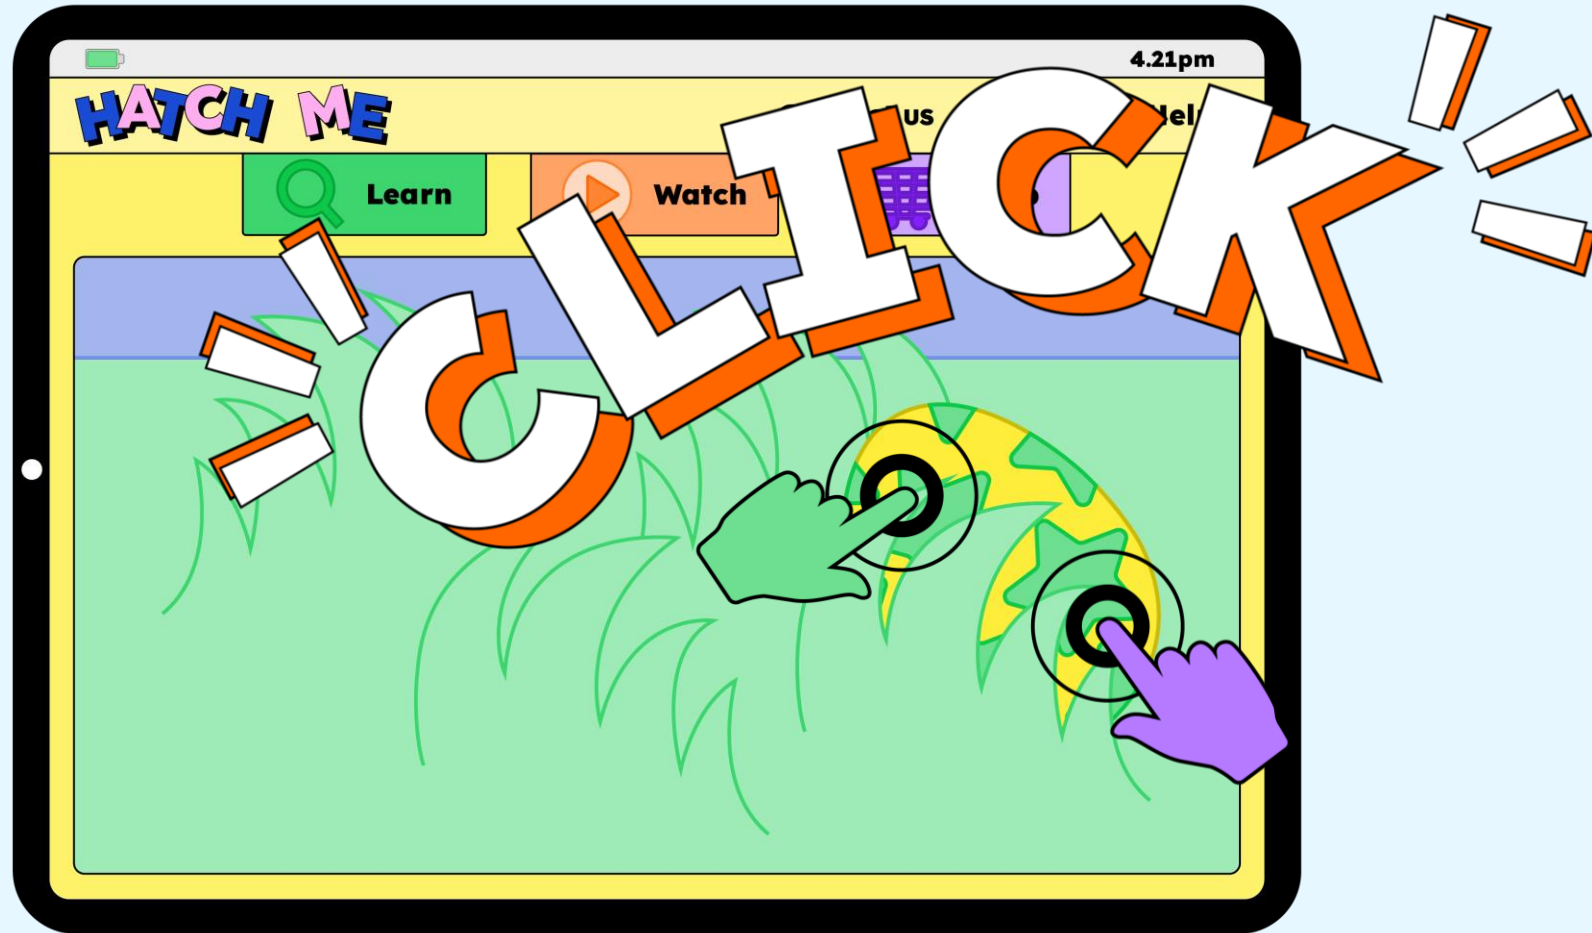

In the game, you collect eggs which hatch into different animals.

You can swap eggs with other players too, using a swap button.

“Look!” says Jaz. “There’s an egg!” They walk over to it, and with a quick CLICK they pick it up. “I wonder what it’ll be!” says Mo with excitement.

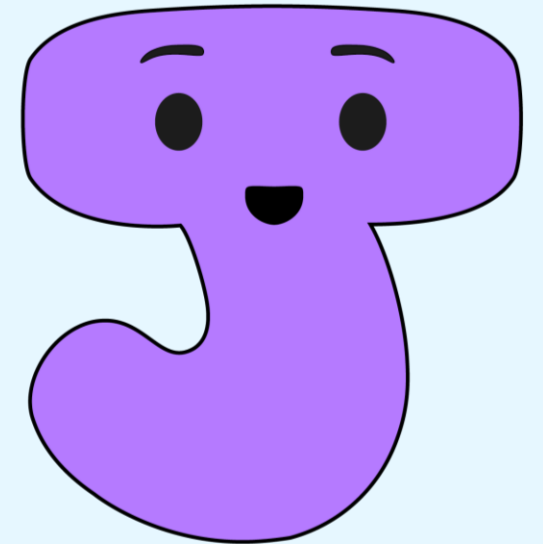

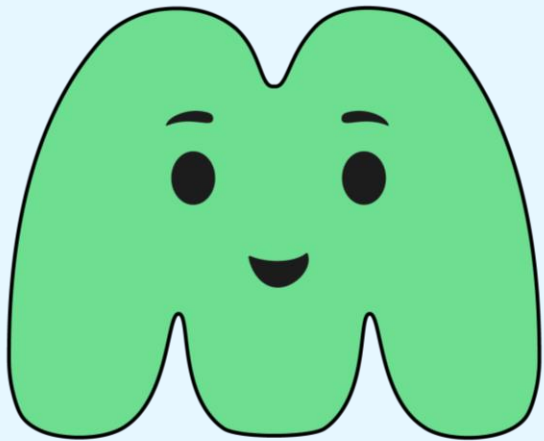

“Look!” says Jaz. “There’s an egg!” They walk over to it, and with a quick CLICK they pick it up. “I wonder what it’ll be!” says Mo with excitement.

They hear a PING and see their egg has a message for them. It says,

“Tap me to hatch me.”

Can you help Mo and Jaz hatch their egg? Can you go TAP TAP TAP?

Can you help Mo and Jaz hatch their egg? Can you go TAP TAP TAP?

Mo taps the egg and a baby crocodile appears. “This is the best game ever,” cries Jaz happily.

Suddenly, they hear a POP! A new message appears on the screen from another player.

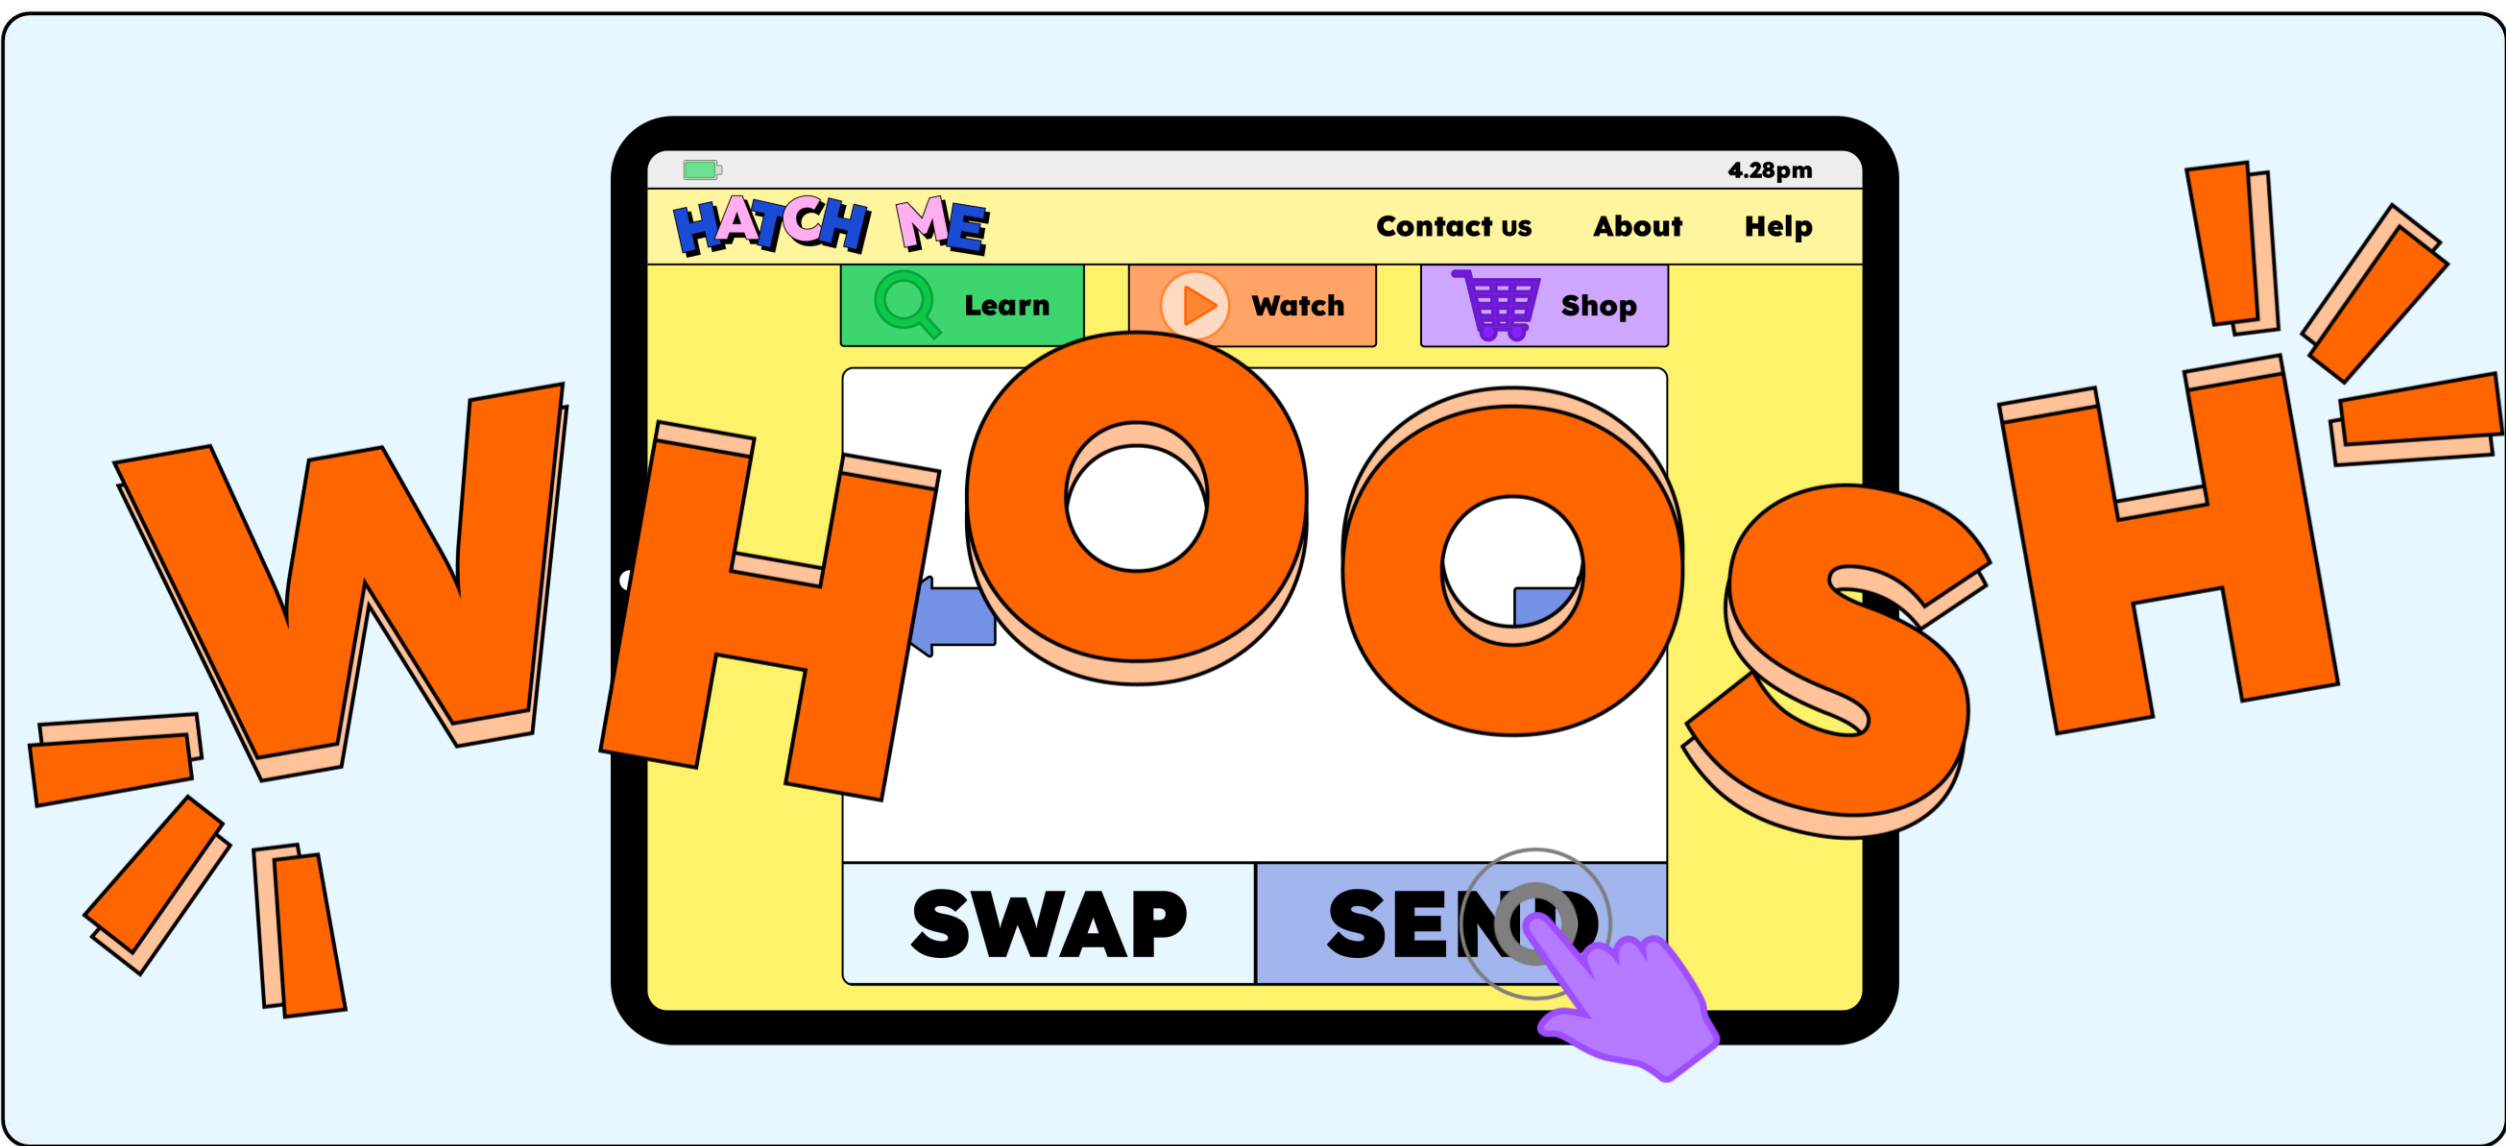

It says, 'If you give me your crocodile, I will give you 5 animals. Send it straight to me, we don't need the swap button.'

“I don’t know,” says Mo. “This makes me feel nervous.” “It’ll be fine,” says Jaz. “They’re going to give us five animals.” “Okay,” replies Mo, still feeling a little worried.

With a WHOOOSH, Mo and Jaz send their crocodile to the other player. But, in a flash, the other player is gone.

With a WHOOOSH, Mo and Jaz send their crocodile to the other player. But, in a flash, the other player is gone.

Mo and Jaz are both shocked. “We’ve lost our crocodile,” says Mo. “We’ve been tricked,” says Jaz sadly. Suddenly, going online doesn’t feel fun anymore.

QUESTIONS

How are Mo and Jaz feeling?

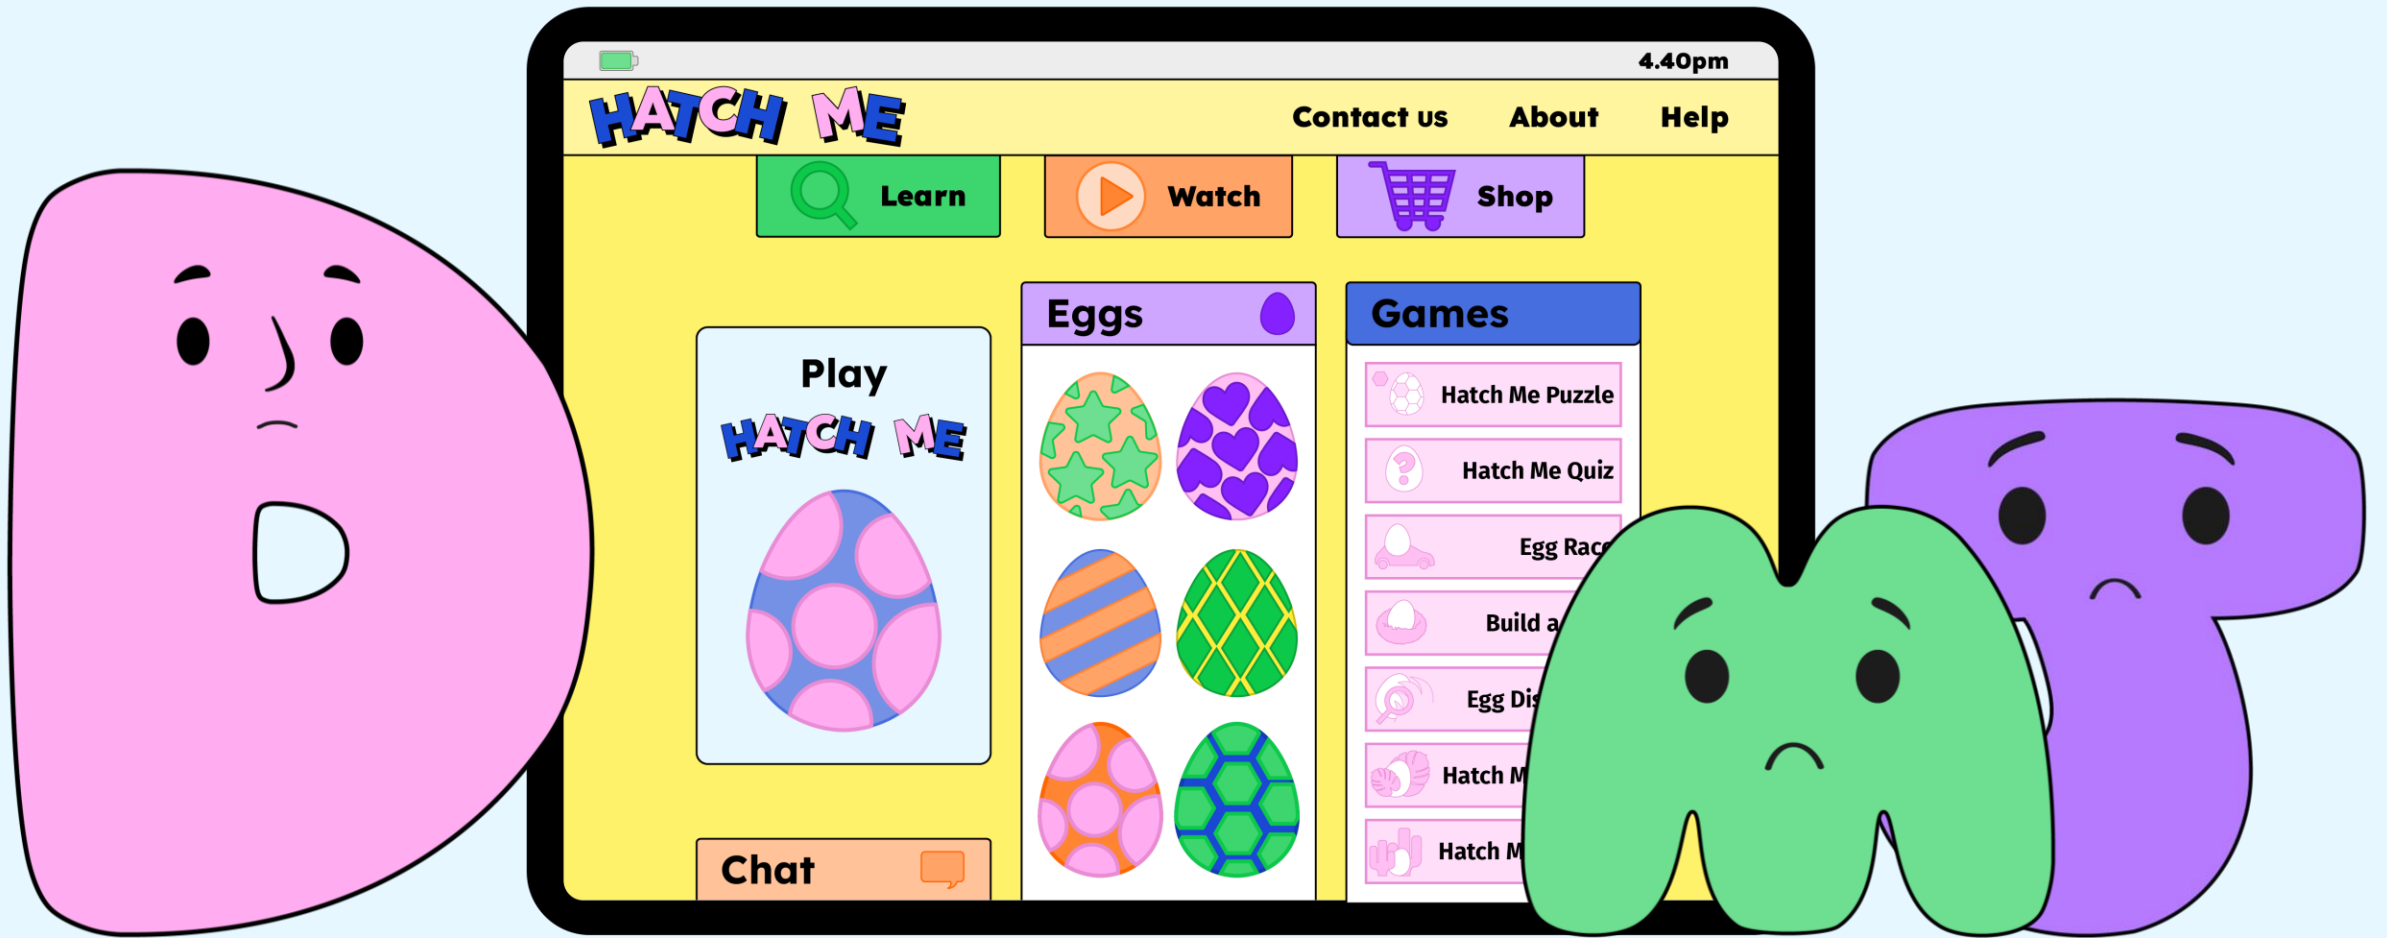

What do you think they should do next?

Mo and Jaz go to find Dad. “Are you okay?” asks Dad. “You don’t look very happy.”

They show Dad the game and tell him what happened with the other player.

“I’m so sorry that happened,” says Dad. “It’s not your fault. Sadly, not everyone is kind online. I’m glad you came to tell me. If you get a message from someone in the game, or you want to swap something, I’m here to help.”

Mo and Jaz feel much better. Dad tells them it's important to think carefully before swapping anything, because once a swap is made, you can't change your mind. He shows them how the swap button works so they can do it properly.

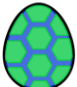

Dad also shows them how to report and block anyone who is not doing the right thing. They all agree that Mo and Jaz will tell a grown up straight away if anything changes online that makes them feel worried, upset, or unsure.

Dad also shows them how to report and block anyone who is not doing the right thing. They all agree that Mo and Jaz will tell a grown up straight away if anything changes online that makes them feel worried, upset, or unsure.

QUESTIONS

-  What's your favourite thing to do online?
-  Have you ever seen anything that surprised you on your device?
-  How did Mo and Jaz feel when they were playing the game?
-  What have you learnt from this story?

Mo and Jaz's message to you

We are very lucky to live with Dad, he helps us with whatever we need.

Who are the grown-ups in your life that you can go to for help?

UK Safer
Internet
Centre

NOMINET